Use Easter For Escape

In all the clutter of mid-semester exam week, the true meaning of Easter is too likely to degenerate into escape — escape from the cares of school through vacation.

Yet Easter is an escape — escape from death through Christ. The stone has truly been rolled away for all men, light or dark.

Stone Has Been Taken Away

Now on the first day of the week Mary Magdalene came to the tomb early, while it was still dark, and saw that the stone had been taken away from the tomb.

So she ran, and went to Simon Peter and the other disciple, the one whom Jesus loved, and said to them, "They have taken the Lord out of the tomb, and we do not know where they have laid him."

Peter then came out with the other disciple, and they went toward the tomb.

They both ran, but the other disciple outran Peter and reached the tomb first; and stopping to look in, he saw the linen cloths lying there, but he did not go in.

Then Simon Peter came, following him, and he went into the tomb; he saw the linen cloths lying, and the napkin which had been on his head, not lying with the linen cloths but rolled up in a place by itself.

Then the other disciple, who reached the tomb first, also went in, and he saw and believed; for as yet they did not know the scripture, that he must rise from the dead. Then the disciples went back to their homes.

But Mary stood weeping outside the tomb, and as she wept she stooped to look into the tomb; and she saw two angels in white, sitting where the body of Jesus had lain, one at the head and one at the feet.

They said to her, "Woman, why are you weeping?"

She said to them, "Because they have taken away my Lord, and I do not know where they have laid him." Saying this, she turned round and saw Jesus standing, but she did not know that it was Jesus.

Jesus said to her, "Woman, why are you weeping? Whom do you seek?"

Supposing him to be the gardener, she said to him, "Sir, if you have carried him away, tell me where you have laid him, and I will take him away."

Jesus said to her, "Mary."

She turned and said to him in Hebrew, "Rabboni!" (which means Teacher).

Jesus said to her, "Do not hold me, for I have not yet ascended to the Father; but go to my brethren and say to them, I am ascending to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God."

Mary Magdalene went and said to the Disciples, "I have seen the Lord"; and she told them that he had said these things to her. — John 20:1-18.

VOICE OF THE KNIGHTS

Volume 54 Wartburg College, Waverly, Iowa, Saturday, March 25, 1961 Number 23

Digging Will Start Monday

Construction of the women's dormitory will begin Monday when first ground excavation takes place.

Henkel Construction Company of Mason City, general contractors, will begin the task of removing 1,600-1,800 cubic yards of dirt necessary for the foundation.

ALL THE DIRT will be hauled away upon excavation according to H. C. Engelbrecht, business manager.

Earth-moving equipment and power facilities were moved in earlier this week, along with the general shed. Building corners had been staked out and all necessary preparation was completed Thursday.

Waverly Plumbing and Heating Company has also moved in its shack. Work is scheduled to begin immediately following completion of ground excavation.

SEE ELECTRIC Company of Waterloo will do the electrical work.

Total cost of the dorm is estimated at $425,000. It is hoped that the building will be completed during second semester next year.

The addition, to house 138 women, is being attached to North Centennial Hall to form a U-shape with the other two dorm wings.

Fifteen HS Seniors On Campus Today To Write Regents Scholarship Tests

About fifteen high school seniors were expected on campus today to take the test for Regents Scholarships, according to Mrs. Florence Hertlein, dean of women.

Tests will be sent to the eight or ten students who could not come to Wartburg.

The testing period was held from 9-12 a.m. in Luther Hall under the direction of Dr. Wilmut Fruehling, Psychology Department. Students were guests of the Scholarship Committee at a noon luncheon in the little dining room.

Announcement of the scholarship winners has been set for April 25.

Director To Give 3 Speeches Soon

Admissions Director Fred Thompson has speaking engagements in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois.

He will be in Waseca, Minn., to speak to a group of about one hundred church women on Christian higher education on April 4.

April 7 he will be in Muscoda, Wis., and on April 11 he will speak in Sterling, Ill.

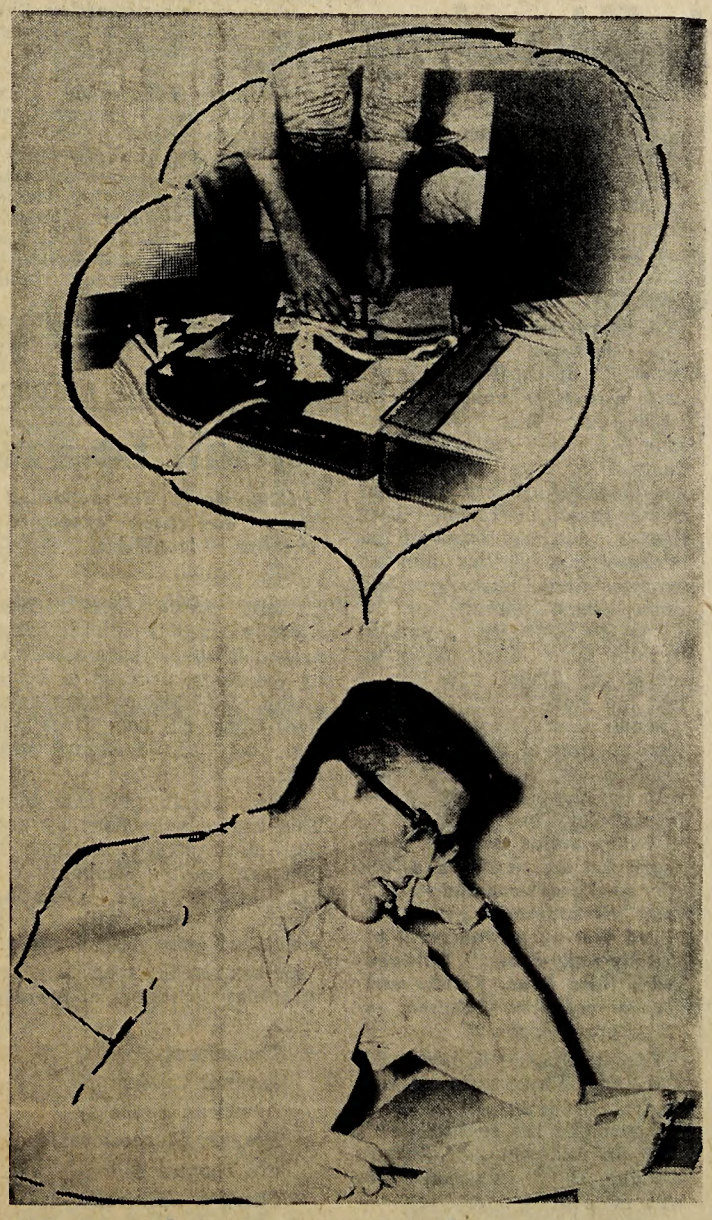
Thompson will attend a meeting of admissions, public relations, development and alumni directors of all The American Lutheran Church colleges April 18, 19 and 20 in Minnesota.

Thompson represented Wartburg College at the Iowa State Principals' Association in Des Moines Sunday and Monday. He acted as consultant for a panel on "High School-College Articulation."

Sandberg To Attend National Conference

Dr. Edwin Sandberg, English Department head, will attend the National Meeting of the Conference on College Composition and Communication in Washington, D.C., April 5-8.

He will address the group on the subject "Writing Proficiency as Increased by Improved Reading Skill." George V. Allen, former director of the United States Information Agency, will also speak at the conference.



Taking That Sentimental Journey

DAYDREAMING, THAT malady of studying, attacks junior Dan Ivey. As Wartburgers gunned all week for mid-semester exams, thoughts of packing for Easter vacation saved them from testomania.

Wartburg Is Host Today To 1st HS Band Festival

First annual Wartburg College Band Festival is being held on campus today.

Guest clinicians are the members of the Symphonic Brass Quartette of the Kansas City Symphony Orchestra.

FEATURING TWO trumpets, a trombone and a French horn, this group will coach soloists, give a lecture, a demonstration and play a concert.

Approximately 120 high school students from Iowa and Wisconsin were expected to attend the festival. Soloists are scheduled to perform and receive instruction from the members of the quartette.

Robert E. Lee and Dr. James Fritschel, both of the Wartburg Music Department, will listen to and advise ensembles.

AT 4 P.M. the Wartburg College Band and Choir will present several numbers in a concert featuring the Symphonic Brass Quartette. Held in the chapel-auditorium, the concert is free.

Members of the Brass Quartette are Henry Nowak, trumpet; Irving Miller, trombone; Thomas Lovitt, trumpet; Kaid Friedel, French horn.

Sophomores To Be Tested For Educational Progress

All sophomores will take part in the Sequential Tests of Educational Progress testing program the week after Easter vacation.

Two tests will be given on April 6 from 2-5 p.m. and on April 7 from 9-12 a.m. The tests, which are being given for the second year, will cover social studies, natural science, mathematics and the reading comprehension part of the English test.

Purposes of the tests are to compare Wartburg student ratings with national norms and to aid in counseling students in their low areas.

Profiles for each student who took the tests last year are on file in the dean of students' office. They have been discussed with the students.

APG Initiates Three At Meeting Tuesday

Three students were initiated into Alpha Phi Gamma, honorary journalism fraternity, Tuesday night.

Those joining the organization were seniors Dave Jensen and Bob Steigerwaldt and sophomore Elaine Melchert.

Lecture Subject Physical Fitness

Dr. A. C. Bundgaard, Physical Education Department, will speak at the Academic Life Committee monthly lecture on Tuesday evening at 7:30 in Fuchs Lounge.

Speaking on the subject "Are Americans Getting Soft?", he will cover the American total way of life and physical fitness.

"This topic should be of great concern to every college student who is interested in American growth," he said.

Plowing Reaps Harvest

That traditional college campus with its spreading trees, vine-covered buildings and carpet-like lawns—that campus seen in countless public relations brochures across the nation — will not be found at Wartburg.

True, the spreading trees are there. The vine-covered buildings are there. And the lawns are still carpet-like — they look like a poorly made rag rug.

Muddy furrows along sidewalks, deep gouges in the middle of lawns, crushed shrubbery — that is the Wartburg campus.

From the humps of mud and dead uprooted grass, a visitor might guess that moles have infested the place. Or maybe the plague is ants. Or maybe Wartburg students hibernated all winter and have just dug themselves out.

Actually, as anyone knows, the ruin of the campus is the snow's fault. If it had not deposited itself on the sidewalks, the tractor with its attached plow would not have churned its merry way over the walks and through the lawn. The campus would not be decked with the largest, plainest, deepest tire tracks this side of the John Deere Company.

The members of the campus maintenance crew were undoubtedly laboring under handicaps when they plowed the snow. Under pressure to clear the walks as quickly as possible and working with a tractor too wide for the walks, the result was probably inevitable.

And even when the sidewalks were wide enough for the tractor, and the driver could follow their outline under the snow, a tractor has to turn around some place. Note examples in front of the Union and Centennial Hall.

Legitimate reasons for a ruined campus are not much comfort, however. The humped-up and caved-in lawn still has to be leveled and reseeded. Until then, and maybe even for some time after, the campus is a mess.

Next year perhaps different equipment or more judicious operation of present equipment can keep damage to a minimum. Most of us are too old for mud pies.

The space between tables in the cafeteria makes one realize that he should diet.

No, St. Patrick's Day didn't have any effect on the outdoor scenery. You'll have to wait another month for the green to appear.

Following emcee Art Wienke's statement at the Castle Singers program that cowboys sang songs to take the place of women in their lives, one Wartburg knight muttered, "He's crazy. Imagine a song taking the place of a woman!"

Judging by the number of birds around, they didn't figure on Old Man Winter staying so long either!

Is it true that the Four Freshmen had a recital here Sunday?

IN LATEST MOVE

Federal Money, Learning Mix

By Bill Goetz

Despite the complex nature of the problems facing American education, it is generally agreed that money would do a great deal in solving many of them.

In a nation as rich as ours, ample funds should be available without a severe drain on the economy.

BUT THE FUNDS have to come from some source, and President Kennedy, together with many other Americans, believes the time has come for the federal government to initiate aid programs for the schools.

The Kennedy program totals $5.6 billion over the next five years, with nearly half going to the states for aid to public schools.

A feature of special interest to prospective college students is a provision for a five-year scholarship program involving the awarding of 212,500 federal scholarships averaging $2,800 for four years of study.

For sheer size such a program would have no precedent.

PROBLEMS ARE most acute, however, at the elementary and secondary level, where the deficit between needs and resources have been reliably estimated at $8 billion yearly.

It may be that the only way to begin meeting this deficit in anything like adequate proportions is to initiate a federal program.

The benefits of such a program will be great, but will have to be weighed against the increase in power of the federal government over the educational process.

Though aid at first is to be channeled through the states, the federal government will hold the purse strings, and the influence of the government over education will certainly increase.

Knights 'n' Daze

I wonder why we are always so anxious to explain things in terms of rules of thumb. A striking instance of this tendency has shown up in the last week or so.

Everyone "knows" that Republicans start depressions and Democrats start wars. Hence, during the Eisenhower administration, we cried depression every time new car sales dropped one or two percent.

Now, with Kennedy in office, a crisis has arisen in Laos. True to form, we are running around, kissing all our girl friends goodbye and hoarding food. The fact that there is nothing to indicate war bothers us not a whit. We just knew that the Democrats would get us into something.

To further complicate the situation, consider the other alternative. When cornered, we all admit that everlasting concession and sacrifice of peoples to the Communist sphere is suicidal.

But, we don't want to make our move quite yet. (I favor whatever action is necessary, just so long as they don't draft me.)

Politics is very nearly as complicated in Des Moines as in Washington. Last week the legislature passed a reapportionment bill which did a lot of things — it reversed the roles of the two houses, changed the numbers therein and provided ingenious mechanics for the transition.

The only thing it failed to do was provide adequate reapportionment. Senator Lynes is reported to have told a freshman senator that you had to be a fourth-generation Iowan to understand how Iowans think.

As a fourth-generation Iowan, I think the Senator was one generation short in his estimate. The whole thing looks to me like a pretty sorry mess.

Governor Erbe made a couple of interesting remarks to groups of students at a political affairs conference in Des Moines last week.

First, the good governor said that he tries to avoid publicity. (One year ago this same man was banning publications and suspending driving licenses with a religious zeal. Perhaps publicity is no longer needed.)

Secondly, Erbe said, in answering a question about the lack of executive leadership during the reapportionment hassle, that he didn't think the governor should be too active in influencing the affairs of the legislature.

For two insincere statements, I suggest a punishment — a cannon volley across the broadest part of the executive trousers.

IN FOLK SONG CONCERT,

Singers Show Spirit, Staging

By Grace Jahn

Staging and spirit were the two ingredients that paid off for the Castle Singers' Tuesday evening presentation of "Folk Songs 'Round the World."

The choral group put forth a thoroughly delightful and enjoyable performance which pleased the audience.

Effectively making use of soloists, small choral groups and dancers, the Singers lacked only two elements that would have put their production in the professional class — precision and polish.

Under the direction of Dr. James E. Fritschel, Music Department, the Singers divided their home concert into four sections—songs of joy and nonsense, devotion, work and love.

Ably guiding the audience through the four phases, master of ceremonies Art Wienke, freshman, served in good stead of a printed program. His ad lib humor kept the audience chuckling and sometimes even caused them to laugh out loud.

Opening the program were three folk songs on the Nativity —"Jesus the Christ Is Born," "Sleep the Child Jesus" and "De Glory Manger."

Juniors Art Baker, Galen Hora, Pearce Konold and sophomore Mel Harper comprised the Singers Male Quartet. Their number was "Rockin' All Night."

Concluding the section of Songs of Devotion with what was probably the high light was "Poor Wayfaring Stranger," a white spiritual. Junior Darlene Weight sang the haunting melody, while freshman Jean Beaver added interpretive dance to the presentation.

Unfortunately, Wartburg has seen too little of Miss Beaver's dancing talents.

The second section dealt with songs of work. Senior Dave Kaiser led off the solo work for the first number, "If I Got My Ticket," a rollicking, hand-clapping spiritual.

A work song of the sea, "Shenandoah," followed with Hora taking the solo honors. Two songs of the West, featuring the men's section, were next—"Poor Lonesome Cowboy" and "Doney Gal" with Dick Braun, freshman, soloist.

The blending voices of the men collaborated once more to offer "Tol' My Cap'n."

The Songs of Love section opened with sophomore Karen Arns singing "If I Had a Ribbon Bow." Konold followed her with the ever-popular "Scarlet Ribbons."

A small choral group sang the Norwegian folk song, "Cari," concerning a girl with a love for money.

Freshman Ray Jorgensen sang the lovely "Black Is the Color of My True Love's Hair," and the audience had a second chance to see the talented Miss Beaver. She was aided in the interpretation of this number by sophomore Chuck Ager and senior Duane Nelson.

Pantomime played a part in "Pretty Little Miss" as sophomore Kay Knopf and Konold told the story.

Senior Gerry Buckler opened the last part of the program—Songs of Joy and Nonsense — with the calypso "Marry a Woman Uglier Than You."

Group antics took the spotlight for the next two selections— "Sourwood Mountain" and "Grandma Grunts." A Fred Waring arrangement of "Polly-wolly-doodle" followed with Miss Arns, Konold and sophomore Rita Johnson as the "grasshoppers."

Two spirituals, "Elijah Rock" and "Poor Man Lazarus," were next on the ticket.

Concluding the section was a German folk song, "Kathryn's Wedding Day." A group dance was introduced here.

The Singers packed a lot of pleasure for a lot of people in an hour and a half, and when the strains of "Long Shadows" filled the chapel-auditorium, this reviewer wished there might be more.

Mail To Prisoner Sought

(Ed. Note: The following letter has been excerpted because of length.)

To the editor:

I have begun a fight to free a young American who is being held at Prague, Czechoslovakia, by the Reds, accused of being a spy. He has no living relatives—thus no one cares for him, only the Embassy officials.

I am working to free him. This can only be done by getting more people to write to him and to the Embassy. I am looking for Christian people, who will write once a month and pray daily for him.

He has already spent 11 years in prison, sentenced at the age of 19.

Trackmen Journey For Indoor Meet

By Paul Baumgarten

Cindermen face their second test of the season as they travel to Cedar Falls this afternoon for the Iowa college indoor track meet.

Fourteen schools will participate in the meet, each featuring top-flight performers.

LAST SATURDAY afternoon the Knights finished third in a triangular meet at Cedar Falls, behind TC and Grinnell. The score was TC 71, Grinnell 42, Wartburg 18.

Although there were several good performances, the Knights had only one first-place winner, senior Ed Skay in the 60-yard dash.

Two other performances — junior Dixon Zander in the pole vault and senior Chuck Wallin in the shot put—deserve special mention.

ZANDER VAULTED 12' 6", three inches beyond his school record, but the vault will not count because he did not win the event. Wallin put the shot 41 feet, his best effort thus far.

Point winners in addition to the above-mentioned were Jerry Schara and Len Schmidt, who tied for third in the high jump; Lothar Columbus, fourth in the mile and the 880; John Niemeyer, third in the high hurdles; Gary Crane, fourth in the 60-yard dash; and Russ Leitz, fourth in the two-mile.

Basketball All-Stars Edge Stellar Norskies By Point

After trailing much of the way, Wartburg IM all-stars edged the Luther IM all-stars 53-52 here last night.

Led by freshman Gary Leeper's 11 points in the last half, Wartburg was able to pull out from a one-point halftime deficit, 26-25. With 2:28 left, the score was knotted 49-all as senior Dick Dellabella had just shaken loose for two easy buckets.

THEN JUNIOR Don Ringgenberg hit to give Wartburg a two-point spread, the first lead since early in the last half. A free throw pulled Luther within one point, and a tip-in after the second free throw gave Luther a 52-51 advantage.

Then senior Tom Van Wyngarden gave Wartburg the victory with a long set shot with about 30 seconds left. Luther missed two shots in the closing seconds.

LEEPER FINISHED with 15 points, followed by Van Wyngarden, who played the whole game, with 10 counters. Senior Don Lehmann added six first-half points.

Adding good performances were seniors Larry Collmann and Gordon Peters in addition to Dellabella. Others on the squad were seniors Hank Giesman and John Osbrink, junior Chuck Jepsen and fresbmen Eldon Ott and Duane Huth.

Trainer Tom Stephenson Tapes Ankles, Massages Backs For Knights In Sports

By Paul Mardorf

One of the least known members of the Wartburg family is Tom Stephenson. Tom is Wartburg's trainer.

Although Tom is trainer only on a part-time basis, he is one of the indispensable links in the success of all Knight teams.

Tom's regular job is that of physical therapist at the Rohlf Memorial Clinic. He, however, takes time off each day to come to the college to take care of any ailments.

His main duties as trainer have to do with supportive taping, blisters, sore muscles and similar complaints.

A native of Waverly, Tom is married and has three children. He graduated from Wartburg College in 1955 and did graduate work in physical therapy at the State University of Iowa, graduating in September of 1956.

Tom's interest not only lies in the physical condition of athletes, but in athletics itself. In addition to participation in high school athletics, Tom enjoys golf and spectator sports.

In his senior year here at Wartburg, Tom served as a student trainer.

When speaking of his job as trainer, he said he likes it because, "It is a pleasure working with youth."

So next basketball season, don't ask, "Who's that guy sitting on the far end of the Knights' bench?"

It's Tom Stephenson, Wartburg's athletic trainer.

Trainer Tom
"Who's that guy . . . ?"

IM Agenda Sets Wrestling April 5

Intramural wrestling will begin Wednesday, April 5, according to intramural chairman Don Ringgenberg. Anyone interested in wrestling must sign up before vacation starts.

Ringgenberg said that there will be nine different divisions, including 123-pound, 130-pound, 137-pound, 147-pound, 157-pound, 167-pound, 177-pound, 191-pound and heavyweight classes.

Letters Go To 19 Athletes

Nineteen athletes recently received letters for participation in winter sports.

The 12 basketball players getting monograms include freshman Al Buenning; sophomores Gary Medlang, Bob Harken, Leon Schade and Dave Brunscheen; juniors Dar Oehlerich, Don Hein and Bob Mueller; and seniors Marv Ott, Dave Jensen and Kerm Urbain.

Seven wrestlers also received letters. They are freshmen Duane Huth, Jim Koepke and Duane Meier; sophomores Jim Mueller and Bill Smitb; and seniors John Sternberg and Roger Hildebrandt.

Hein, Urbain and junior Dixon Zander were also awarded letter jackets.

May The Beautiful Spirit Of Easter Bring You Happiness

Waverly Home Bakery

Student, Faculty Member Will Participate On Panel

Mrs. Marjorie Scholl, English Department, and freshman Jeannette Miller will represent Wartburg on the program of the regional meeting of English teachers and English majors Monday evening at Iowa State Teachers College.

Mrs. Margaret Garland of the English and Journalism Department will also attend.

A panel discussion will highlight the program, consisting of four freshmen from ISTC, Luther, the State University of Iowa and Wartburg, as well as four instructors of freshman English at these colleges.

The topic will concern composition problems related to high school-college development.

Drive Scheduled

A clothing drive will be sponsored by the campus congregation April 13 and 14.

"Easter is a good time to pick up unwanted clothing," reminds Margretha Radloff, committee member.

Tryouts Slated

Tryouts for next year's Castle Singers will be held April 4-7, according to Dr. James Fritschel, director. Sign-up sheets are posted on the Fine Arts Center bulletin board.

"Those who previously tried out are urged to try out again," said Dr. Fritschel.

The group plans to present a musical next year.

SUI Psychologist To Visit Campus

Dr. Leonard Poodstein, clinical psychologist and director of the State University of Iowa counseling service, will be on campus April 5 and 6.

He will speak in the chapel-auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 5, on the subject of "Personality Factors in Achievement." He will also be available for conferences with students.

Engelbrecht to Speak At Convocation Tues.

Dr. August Engelbrecht, former president of the Illinois District of the former American Lutheran Church, will be the guest speaker at next Tuesday's Easter convocation.

The convo period will be devoted to worship in observance of Holy Week, according to Chaplain Herman Diers.

JOINERS' JIVE

Bjonerud

A big Wartburg "Hi" to all you Regents Scholarship candidates who will undoubtedly be next year's curve raisers. Maybe you would want to clip this article, as it may give you the schedule of events beginning on said date 365 days hence, but don't count on it.

Calling all you hungry Wartburgers! Sunday, beginning at 5:15 p.m. in the cafeteria, the sophomore class is sponsoring a chili supper. Sound good? It will be good. Come and grub ho!

□ □ □ □

Sunday night beginning at 7 p.m. your presence is requested in the Little Theater to hear The Rev. Robert Dell and The Rev. August Baetke discuss ecumenicity. For all you whose vocabularies aren't too efficacious, the topic of discussion concerns the joining together of the religions.

Attention, you teachers of tomorrow: Monday night at 7:30 p.m. the Student Education Association will be meeting in the chapel-auditorium. Note the change, please.

Also at 7:30 in the Senate office, Mission Fellowship is meeting. The meeting is rumored to be short. Be there!

□ □ □ □

Then the best meeting time of the whole week will be Wednesday noon when all the Knights and Knighties go their separate ways.

Kids, have a grand Easter vacation and be sure to drive carefully. Then, work hard and clean out those attics to find money and costumes for the carnival, which will be here the very next weekend. This will be your carnival and you will be the ones to make it a success.

Happy egg hunting!

DOWN From The Tower

Greetings to faculty and students from the new society writer for the Trumpet. To show that college personnel do not hibernate in their ivory towers, this column will record what happens when faculty meets community.

Parents of local school students have been in a quandary trying to formulate a code for the teenagers. Dr. A. C. Bundgaard, Physical Education Department, and Dr. Clifford Hansen, Philosophy Department, have been serving on a Waverly PTA committee which has been forming a "Parents' Guide and Teenage Code."

The committee has been meeting since October and discussing such subjects as dating, personal dress, hours, cars and home life. At the moment, the committee is in the process of writing up the code and presenting it for approval.

★ ★ ★ ★

The Iowa Academy of Science will hold a meeting at Simpson College on April 14 and 15. Dr. A. W. Swensen is chairman of the section on Inorganic and Physical Chemistry. It is the second time that Dr. Swensen has served in such a capacity.

The entire Wartburg science staff is planning to attend the meeting. Wartburg's Science Club will also attend the two-day session.

★ ★ ★ ★

From father-son banquet to a women's group — that is the story on Uncle Herb. Last week Engelbrecht spoke to a father-son banquet at Belmond.

He will speak to a women's group in Hampton on April 6, and will journey to a Brotherhood Conference meeting at West Union on May 7, where he will again make with the words.

Dr. Katherine M. Love, German Department, will talk to the Denver Parent-Teacher Association about German education Wednesday. The talk will be based on her experiences as a Fulbright exchange teacher to Germany two years ago.

Mrs. Margaret Garland, English Department, led a workshop in Waterloo last Saturday on "Creative Writing Problems." The workshop was part of a meeting in Waterloo of the National League of American Pen Women of which she is president.

Joyce Kramer To Give Senior Recital Tomorrow At 3 In Chapel-Auditorium

Joyce Kramer, Aplington, will present her senior recital tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the chapel-auditorium.

Kramer

Miss Kramer, a soprano, will sing "Let Death Now Come" by Monteverde, "Should Florindo Be Faithful" by Scarlatti plus "Fairest Isle" and "If Music Be The Food of Love" by Purcell. From "Le Nozze de Figaro" she will present "Dove Sono."

Four serious songs by Brahms, "Four Ducks on a Pond" by Needham, "The False Prophet" by Scott and "Love Went A-Riding" by Bridge will conclude the program.

Jean Semmler, junior from Delmont, S.D., will be her accompanist.

M. Kramer Attending Planning Conference

Melvin Kramer, business department, is attending a spring planning conference today at Camp Wesley Woods, Indianola.

The purpose of the conference is to map plans for the state meeting of the Iowa Business Education Association scheduled for next fall.

Approximately twenty-five college and secondary school teachers from Iowa are in attendance.
